MAY 18, 2025

DOMINICAN
UNIVERSITY

We congratulate

MISSION

The aim of Dominican University New York is to promote educational excellence, leadership, and service in an environment characterized by respect for the individual and concern for the community and its needs.

Founded by the Dominican Sisters of Blauvelt, the University is an independent institution of higher learning, Catholic in origin and heritage. In the Dominican tradition, it fosters the active, shared pursuit of truth and embodies an ideal of education rooted in the values of reflective understanding and compassionate involvement.

Committed to building its programs upon a strong foundation in the liberal arts and sciences, the University maintains a student-centered climate and serves a diverse community of students in undergraduate and graduate programs. The University empowers this community of learners to excel, lead, and serve with integrity, and to engage responsibly in the pursuit of a more just, ethical, and sustainable world.

Dominican University New York is dedicated to the principle that its educational programs and services must be both challenging and supportive, distinguished both by high standards and by attention to the needs and potential of the individual student. Affirmed and engaged by these standards and values, graduates are prepared for purposeful lives and for the careers and professions they choose to pursue.

THE BADAMI OUTSTANDING ALUMNA AWARD

MARDOCHEE JULIEN-WEST, M.S.

“Lift up your hearts. Each new hour holds new chances for new beginnings.”
—Maya Angelou

Dominican University New York takes great pride in recognizing young alumni who exemplify leadership, service, and lifelong learning. From her time as a student leader to her impactful work in education and qualitative research, Mardochee Julien-West has consistently demonstrated a passion for fostering community, empowering others, and embracing intellectual growth. Her journey embodies the Dominican Difference in action, and the University is honored to celebrate her achievements and ongoing dedication to making a difference.

As an undergraduate, Mardochee was an integral part of both academic and student life at Dominican, seamlessly blending these two spheres through her co-leadership of Verbal Asylum, the University’s poetry and open-mic club. Alongside fellow English major Ikea Poole and under the mentorship of Dr. James Reitter, she learned how to organize auditions, design programs, and host events that regularly drew audiences of over 200 people. Working with emcee Aliyah Herndon, a Communication Studies major and English minor, Mardochee helped recruit open-mic performers, ensuring each event fostered a vibrant and inclusive atmosphere. Their combination of structure and creativity established a lasting “vibe” for Verbal Asylum, empowering student performers and strengthening Dominican’s artistic community.

Academically, Mardochee excelled as an English major, honing her skills in collaborative research projects and peer-led oral presentations that allowed her leadership and analytical abilities to shine. Her senior seminar capstone focused on George Bernard Shaw’s Pygmalion (1913), in which she explored Eliza Doolittle’s journey of self-transformation as a compelling parallel to the experiences of college students forging their own identities and paths.

After graduating, Mardochee earned a Master of Science in Applied Behavior Analysis from Pepperdine University, which led to her work as a Registered Behavior Technician, developing strategies to support individuals with behavioral challenges. She credits this degree with shaping her approach to coaching, where she integrates leadership with a deep commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Recently, Mardochee began a new role as a Qualitative Research Analyst and Success Coach at the University of Maryland Global Campus (UMGC), where she is also pursuing a Doctor of Management degree focused on community college policy and administration. These accomplishments reflect the love of lifelong learning that Dominican seeks to instill in all its students. Shortly after joining UMGC, she was recognized as Success Coach of the Month, with colleagues praising her ability to build strong relationships and foster a deep sense of belonging among students.

This recognition reflects the many ways in which Mardochee embodies the Dominican Difference—a commitment to academic excellence, leadership, and service that remains central to her life and career. For her outstanding achievements—past, present, and future—Dominican University New York proudly presents Mardochee Julien-West with the 2025 Badami Outstanding Alumna Award.

CONFERRAL OF VERITAS MEDAL

HOWARD GOLDIN AND EDWARD J. FRANK

“As long as poverty, injustice, and gross inequality persist in our world, none of us can truly rest.”
— Nelson Mandela

Vietnam veterans Howard Goldin and Edward J. Frank were haunted by the Vietnam War they fought in many years ago, but a trip back overseas in 2005 changed their lives forever. They made peace with their former enemies, and became determined to help Vietnamese children, who had to contend with a lack of education in rural areas, human trafficking, the effects of Agent Orange, and unexploded land mines left by Americans.

During the Vietnam War, Howard was in the U.S. Army and was shot multiple times by the Vietcong in his knee. Doctors tried to remove the bullet fragments, but pieces of metal remain in his leg today. Ed served in the U.S. Navy on a River Patrol Boat in the Mekong Delta. After the war, the men returned to the U.S. as decorated veterans. Howard was the recipient of a Purple Heart, a Bronze Star, and the Combat Infantry Badge. Ed received a National Defense Service Medal, a Vietnam Service Medal, and a Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal. They became friends after meeting at the local Vietnam Veterans of America, Chapter 333. Both were born leaders and involved community members. Howard became Chief of Police for the Village of Spring Valley. Ed is a member of the West Nyack Fire Engine Company #1. Eventually, both would serve as President of the Spring Valley Rotary Club and the Vietnam Veterans of America, Chapter 333.

Years after the war had ended, Howard was still very angry. His son passed away at 22 years old after enduring respiratory problems and other health issues related to Agent Orange, which Howard was exposed to in Vietnam. More than 35 years after leaving Vietnam, Ed and Howard decided to return with other veterans and civilians and described the trip as “cathartic” and “healing.” They discussed war and peace with former enemy soldiers and finally put the war behind them. During that trip, Howard and Ed saw Vietnamese children working in the sex trade and noticed a lack of education. Dominican Sisters approached them for help in rebuilding a school that had been destroyed during the war, and they agreed to raise money.

When they returned to the United States, Howard and Ed founded a nonprofit organization called S.T.E.P or Schools to End Poverty, which is sponsored by the Spring Valley Rotary. Twenty years after that initial trip, the organization has built three schools in Vietnam, as well as schools in Jamaica, Honduras, and Ghana. In addition, two orphanages have been constructed in Vietnam with a third orphanage planned. The orphanages house physically-challenged children and young people who were abused, abandoned, or both. S.T.E.P. has also provided children with more than 500 wheelchairs and 500 bicycles. Two tons of supplies, including a refurbished ambulance, have been sent to third world countries to assist children injured in land mine incidents and 58 brain shunts have helped children affected by Agent Orange. Locally, in Rockland County, S.T.E.P has several programs to support children and provides school supplies and backpacks to students in the East Ramapo School District.

In recognition of their extraordinary efforts to educate and protect children in Vietnam and around the world, their remarkable commitment to help fellow Vietnam veterans heal during return trips to Vietnam, and their impressive fundraising with no overhead costs, Dominican University New York is honored to award the 2025 Veritas Medal to Howard Goldin and Edward J. Frank.

CONFERRAL OF HONORARY DEGREES

RAYMOND H. HILL, M.E.M.

“Is life less than a boat race? If a man will give all the blood in his body to win the one, will he not spend all the might of his soul to prevail in the other?”

—Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr.

Raymond H. Hill stands as an inspiring example of excellence in business, service, and personal integrity—qualities that embody the highest ideals of Dominican University New York.

Ray Hill is a rower. A man of discipline and determination, he discovered his lifelong passion for rowing while a student at Cornell University, where he competed as a member of the men’s heavyweight crew. He continues to row competitively today as a master’s athlete, having won gold at the USRowing Masters National Championships an extraordinary eleven times. Like all rowers, Ray has never hesitated to put in the immense work required to pursue the opportunity to triumph. Rowing—often called the ultimate team sport—requires not only perseverance but trust in one’s teammates and perfect synchronization with them in order to achieve success. Ray has found that the values that one needs to succeed as a rower are the same ones that are needed to succeed in life both personally and professionally.

Following his graduation from Cornell, Ray went on to distinguish himself in myriad ways. He earned a Master’s Degree in Environmental Management from Duke University and went on to build an exceptional career in health technology and business leadership. He served as Chairman and CEO of CorEvitas, a biotechnology firm delivering real-world data on the safety and effectiveness of therapies for autoimmune and inflammatory diseases. Under his leadership, CorEvitas achieved nine-fold revenue growth in just eight years, culminating in its acquisition by Thermo Fisher Scientific for nearly $1 billion. Today, Ray continues to shape the future of healthcare as an Operating Partner at Arsenal Capital, where he advises on pharmaceutical and bioscience investments.

Beyond his professional success, Ray has remained deeply committed to service and philanthropy. He exemplifies Dominican University’s mission of respect for the individual and concern for the community. As Board Chair of Row New York, a nonprofit that merges rowing with rigorous academic support, Ray has helped expand opportunities for students from New York City public schools to attend and thrive in four-year colleges. Together with his wife, Darla Sweet, he has also established scholarships at Dominican University, specifically to support first-generation college students in achieving their academic dreams.

For his extraordinary accomplishments in business, his unwavering commitment to service, and his profound investment in the education and empowerment of young people, Dominican University New York is proud to confer upon Raymond H. Hill the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

JAMES BREHENY

“The wildlife and its habitat cannot speak, so we must and we will.”

—Theodore Roosevelt

Jim Breheny is a renowned American wildlife conservationist and the Director of the Bronx Zoo, one of the largest and most respected zoological institutions in the world. He also serves as the Executive Vice President of Zoos and Aquariums for the Wildlife Conservation Society (WCS), overseeing the management and operations of WCS’s five zoological parks in New York City: the Bronx Zoo, Central Park Zoo, New York Aquarium, Queens Zoo, and Prospect Park Zoo. With over four decades of experience in wildlife management and conservation, Breheny has played a pivotal role in advancing WCS’s mission to protect wildlife and wild places, making a lasting impact on both the zoo community and global conservation efforts.

A Bronx native, Jim Breheny’s deep connection to animals and nature began early in life. His fascination with the natural world led him to his first job at the Bronx Zoo at the age of 14, working the camel rides at the Children’s Zoo—an opportunity that marked the beginning of a lifelong career. After earning a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from Manhattan College in 1981, he was promoted to supervisor of the newly reimagined Children’s Zoo. Breheny’s exceptional leadership and dedication propelled him through the ranks, holding positions including Curatorial Science Fellow, Assistant Curator of Education, leader of Special Animal Exhibits, and General Curator. In 2004, he was appointed Director of the Bronx Zoo, and in 2011, he assumed his role as Executive Vice President of WCS’s Zoos and Aquarium.

Under Breheny’s leadership, the Bronx Zoo has not only thrived but flourished. He has overseen the launch of several major exhibits, including the renovation of the Children’s Zoo and the creation of Madagascar!, Nature Trek, and Budgie Landing. Beyond exhibit enhancements, Breheny has transformed the Bronx Zoo into a global leader in public education, serving over one million students, educators, and families annually. He has also spearheaded initiatives to improve animal enclosures, expand conservation programs, and introduce sustainable practices. His leadership in WCS conservation breeding programs has contributed to the preservation of endangered species such as snow leopards and American bison, as well as the successful reintroduction of the Kihansi spray toad into its native Tanzania.

In 2017, Breheny collaborated with Animal Planet on the groundbreaking docuseries The Zoo, offering viewers a behind-the-scenes look at the remarkable work of Bronx Zoo staff in animal care and wildlife conservation. The series, which aired for five seasons from 2017 to 2021, became the network’s second-highest-rated program. Also featured in the show was his wife of 28 years, Kathleen LaMattina, who serves as the Bronx Zoo’s Curator of Animal Encounters.

Jim Breheny has received numerous accolades for his contributions to wildlife conservation, and he remains at the forefront of efforts to create a world where animals and humans coexist sustainably. His career exemplifies the power of dedication, passion, and innovation in the pursuit of global conservation goals. In recognition of his visionary approach to zoo management, his profound understanding of animal behavior, and his unwavering commitment to preserving biodiversity, Dominican University New York is honored to confer upon Mr. James Breheny the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

DOMINICAN UNIVERSITY NEW YORK ALMA MATER

Revised by Dr. James Filippelli, Associate Professor of Fine and Performing Arts & Mrs. Janet Moore, Adjunct Lecturer of Music.

Refrain

Our hearts are with Dominican,
University so dear.

Our hearts are with Dominican,
we are proud that we are here.

Verse 1:

You have cared and taught and loved us,
you have helped us to increase.

In our wisdom and our knowledge,
in our search for truth and peace.

May the light of your high standards,
guide our path as years go by.

We are grateful, Dominican,
as we raise our voices high.

Refrain

Our hearts are with Dominican,
University so dear.

Our hearts are with Dominican,
we are proud that we are here

Verse 2:

Now we pledge our lives in service,
so our talents we might give.

Meet the challenge yet before us,
that in justice all might live.

May the light of your high standards,
guide our path as years go by.

We are grateful, Dominican,
as we raise our voices high.

Refrain:

Our hearts are with Dominican,
University so dear.

Our hearts are with Dominican,
we are proud that we are here.

THE MACE

A mace is a ceremonial staff that has been a symbol of authority and power for centuries. It represents the University's academic heritage and is a vital part of the Commencement Ceremony, reinforcing the gravity and tradition of the event. The University President appoints the Mace Bearer, generally a senior member of the faculty. This Mace Bearer leads the platform party in the procession that begins the Commencement Ceremony. Dominican University New York's walnut-fluted mace features a brass medallion with the University seal on both sides. Honoring the University's mission, the words Excellence, Leadership, and Service are engraved on the mace, thus it serves as a powerful reminder of the University's mission and commitment.

THE TRADITION OF ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The caps, gowns, and hoods worn at college and university functions date back to the Middle Ages. Monks and students used them to keep warm in medieval castles and halls of learning. From these practical origins they have developed into the accepted garb symbolizing scholarly achievement.

Baccalaureate gowns have a long, pleated front with shirring across the shoulders and back. They are primarily distinguished by flowing sleeves, pointed at the fingertips. These gowns may be worn either open or closed.

The master's degree gown is worn open, and the sleeve is cut so that the forearm comes through a slit above the elbow. Gowns for the doctor's degree are also worn open. They carry broad, velvet panels down the front, and three velvet bars on the full, round sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or the color distinctive of the degree.

The hood gives color and real meaning to the academic costume. Its silk lining bears the colors of the institution conferring the degree. The hood is bordered with velvet of a prescribed width and color to indicate the field of learning to which the degree pertains.

Hoods worn by candidates in today's ceremonies are lined with red and black, the colors of Dominican University New York. Their velvet borders are tinted with colors representing the degree being conferred.

Faculty members in the academic procession are robed in gowns and hoods representing the institutions from which they have degrees.

Honors Tassels worn on the mortar board symbolize scholastic achievement at Dominican University New York. Students receive the white tassel for one year of excellence; red for two years of excellence; and gold, the highest honor, for attaining scholastic honors for three years.

Graduates who are members of the National Honor Society, Alpha Chi, wear the white stole which has the letters of the Society in emerald green and a sapphire blue ribbon signifying their active membership in the Dominican University New York Chapter.
