A LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT >

I AM HAPPY TO PRESENT TO YOU DOMINICAN COLLEGE'S 2011 - 2012 ANNUAL REPORT. AS YOU WILL NOTE IN READING THIS REVIEW, ISSUED ON THE OCCASION OF THE COLLEGE'S SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY, IT WILL ALSO ALLUDE TO THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE PAST TEN YEARS.

Dominican College is steeped in the tradition of its founders, the Dominican Sisters of Blauvelt who came to Rockland County in 1878 seeking a home for children and families in need. Their efforts led to the establishment of St. Dominic's Home and later, in 1952, Dominican College. Both institutions reflect a deep commitment to the values of the Dominican Order whose seeds were planted in Southern France during the thirteenth century. The College's mission statement calls for a type of education that requires "reflective understanding and compassionate involvement" and the development of an environment that is "characterized by respect for the individual and concern for the community." Commitment to reflection, study, community and service, so characteristic of the College's orientation, springs from the Dominican Order's focus on prayer, community, study and ministry, especially preaching.

The past ten years have seen significant growth at the College. What was once a small commuter school has become a thriving residential community housing close to 700 students in three residence halls. Academic offerings have expanded on the undergraduate, masters and doctoral levels. To address the needs of its close to 2,100 students, the Prusmack Center for Health and Science Education was constructed, as well as the Sullivan Library with its attractive Learning Commons. The Granito Dining Center was updated and expanded in 2010 to serve the needs of a growing population. The Chronicle of Higher Education reported Dominican as one of the fastest growing institutions in its Carnegie category. A commuter lounge was created in 2012 in the Corless Room, adjacent to the dining area, where students who don't live on campus can gather between and after classes. Located on seventy acres with fifteen buildings, the College has become a beautiful, full-service campus used by both students and community groups who share the College's mission.

2011-2012 provided many reasons for celebration. The College graduated the largest class in its history, 504 students, bringing the number of alumni to over 11,000. Excellent and well respected scholars and speakers were brought to campus, among them Joseph Tracy, VP of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York; Joe Ehrmann, internationally recognized speaker on ending sexual violence; and Daniel Mahoney, Ph.D., an advocate of education for citizenship. Online classes were added to make academic offerings as accessible as possible to non-traditional and graduate students.

New programs were added, a BS in Biology, and a master's degree in Adolescence Education. Dominican was named a "College of Distinction" in recognition of its engaged students, great teaching, vibrant community, and successful outcomes.

The women's softball team earned the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference (CACC) championship and the College's women's athletic program received the Restaino Cup for Excellence for the second year in a row. Overall, the men's and women's twelve teams were highly recognized by the (CACC).

This exciting year also brought its share of sadness, as we bid farewell to friends and the familiar faces of Barbara Socor, Director of the Division of Social Sciences; Joyce Cohen, Assistant Professor of Nursing; and Bill Stegmayer, Director of Institutional Research, as they retired. The hardest goodbye was the untimely death of Father Ron Stanley, O.P., campus Chaplain and friend to all. His contributions to the life of the College cannot be overestimated. Fr. Ron's calm, compassionate nature personified the best of the Dominican Tradition.

The above mentioned achievements and those on the following pages, would not have been possible without the outstanding efforts of a remarkable faculty, student body and professional staff and administration. They have been supported and guided by an outstanding Board of Trustees, ably led by three chairmen: James Hennessy, Joseph Corless and Kenneth Marks during this decade of growth and achievement. The College remains most grateful for the contributions of the Board of Trustees, the President's Advisory Council and the support of its Alumni and generous volunteers.

Encouraged by the achievements of the past, Dominican College renews its commitment to academic excellence and the development of leadership and service among all members of its community. Faithfulness to tradition and openness to evolving possibilities will propel Dominican forward during the decade ahead as Dominican continues to engage in creative planning to meet the needs of the people of the tri-state area and beyond.

I remain most grateful for your support and continue to ask God's blessings on you and yours.

Sincerely,

Sr. Mary Eileen O'Brien

ACHIEVEMENTS

OF THE LAST DECADE

During the fiftieth anniversary year of 2002-2003, the College embarked on an ambitious, multi-year plan designed to enhance the overall student experience, improve the academic profile, and upgrade and expand facilities.

Though the work is not yet complete, the College's achievements over this last decade of growth have been nothing short of remarkable. Many new buildings have been opened, including two new residence halls. Several new programs have been accredited and enrollment has soared.

Degree programs at Dominican College have been enhanced over the past decade as well, primarily in the area of graduate programs. In 2002, the original Multiple Needs program was replaced by a more inclusive M.S. in Ed. program for Teachers of Students with Disabilities. The College's charter was further expanded in 2004 to offer a Doctor of Physical Therapy (D.P.T.) degree.

In 2007, the College introduced three new programs—graduate programs in Childhood Education and Business Administration, and an undergraduate program in Criminal Justice—and initiated the Weekend ABSN program. In 2009 a Communications Studies program was added, and in 2012 two new M.S. in Education programs—Adolescence Education and a combined program in Adolescence Education and Students with Disabilities—were announced, bringing to seven the total number of M.S. in Education programs offered by the College.

A capital campaign, Advancing Excellence, was launched in 2010 to help provide a promising future for the College's growing student body. Plans are underway to enhance scholarships programs, renovate older buildings, and expand facilities to accommodate future growth.

Over the latter part of the decade the enrollment continued to increase, climbing to close to 2,100 and attracting students from across the country and around the world. The College graduated more than 400 students in 2010, and more than 500 in 2011 and 2012. Total Alumni have surpassed 11,000.

The Granito Center, which opened in 1996, was designed to serve only 300 to 400 resident students. Today there are 700 residents, and that number is growing rapidly. The much-needed expansion of the kitchen and dining facilities, addition of a lounge area, and conversion of a meeting room into a game room were completed in 2011.

While the campus and its students thrived, there were other noticeable signs of growth and positive change. In 2002, the College was only able to publicize its programs in print and radio ads, and only about 40 publications were produced each year. Today communication has improved to include cable and the Internet, and more than 120 publications are created each year. The College also boasts a website, created in 2005 and updated significantly in 2011, that meets the evolving needs of students, staff, and the public.

The revitalization of Student Life, under the leadership of John Burke, who was appointed in 2009 as Dean of Student Life, has included the reorganization of SGA and student activity groups. The Code of Conduct has also been updated over the last few years to be more developmental and less punitive.

In 2010, the College's Policy Manual Committee completed 18 months of work with the publication of seven-volume College-Wide Policy Manual designed to provide accurate and timely information on College policies regarding employees and students and their relationship with the College.®

During the last decade, the College also had solid accomplishments in athletics, earning recognition as one of the finest small-college athletic programs in the metropolitan area.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

2011 - 2012

Dominican College is proud to highlight some of the outstanding achievements of this past year. These accomplishments have been reached through the efforts of remarkable individuals—and are celebrated by an academic community deeply committed to the value of excellence.

MIDDLE STATES REPORT SUCCESSFULLY COMPLETED

Over the past year, representatives from all areas of the College worked diligently on the Periodic Review Report for the Middle States Commission on Higher Education. A major focus of this report was on the assessment of student learning. Programs that were brought into the assessment process for the first time included the Honors Program, the General Education Curriculum (G.E.C.), and the Bridge Program. This review is required by Middle States and provides an overview of institutional progress in key areas. The process was guided by an Executive Steering Committee consisting of faculty, administration, staff, and students and led by Thom Nowak, Dean of Students, Brian Fernandes, VP Enrollment, and Christopher Libertini, Associate Professor of History.

WOMEN WIN SECOND STRAIGHT RESTAINO CUP

The women's athletic program was recognized for its across-the-board excellence with the Alfred R. Restaino Sr. Cup. This is the second straight year the women's program has won the Cup. The men finished third after finishing in second position last year.

The Restaino Cup is awarded to the most successful CACC program of the year. The point system that determines the winner takes into account each team's finish in both the regular season and conference tournament. Each program receives a combined point total which is divided by the number of sports the program sponsors. The College's women's athletic program was powered by strong finishes in basketball, cross country, soccer, and volleyball, and by the softball team's third straight CACC conference title.

"This is a great accomplishment," said Joe Clinton, Director of Athletics. "Our coaches and student-athletes work very hard and fully deserve this recognition."

NYSED APPROVES NEW PROGRAMS

Two popular undergraduate program offerings at Dominican College received approval from the New York State Education Department (NYSED) for major programmatic and curricular revisions. In November, the College's proposal for a BS option in its highly successful Biology program was given the go-ahead. This new degree offers Bachelor of Science track options in Pre-Physical Therapy, Pre-Med, and Environmental Science. Changes to the College's Humanities program also received NYSED approval. Two new course requirements ("Topics in Humanities" and "Readings in Humanities"), will trace the major human intellectual, cultural, social, and moral expressions from Antiquity through the Middle Ages up to today, giving the program a clear "Great Books" focus while providing an interdisciplinary approach spanning the areas of the arts, literature, history, philosophy, theology, and foreign language and culture.

In July, NYSED also formally approved the College's application for new graduate programs in Adolescence Education and Adolescence Education/Students with Disabilities. Both programs were developed by Michael Kelly, Ed.D., and courses commenced in Fall 2012.

the New York Red Bulls, a professional soccer team. In his senior season, Arteaga led the Central Atlantic Collegiate Conference (CACC) in points, goals, and game-winning goals and led the College to a fourth consecutive CACC regular-season championship.

TERRY ALLERTON: 2012 MAN OF THE YEAR

Dominican College and its Board of Trustees honored Terry Allerton, President of Holt Construction on Sunday, April 29 at Three Sixty in New York City. Mr. Allerton began his career with Holt as a Project Manager and became President in 1995. With the help of his colleagues, Mr. Allerton has grown the company from annual sales of $7 million to approximately $150 million and has added offices in Newark, Manhattan, and Boston to the home office in Pearl River, which was established in 1919.

In 2011, Mr. Allerton published Ultimate Construction Checklists, a "how to" book of over 2,000 pages written for professionals in the construction industry.

Raised in Canton, Ohio, Terry Allerton is one of six children born to Mille and Leslie Allerton. A strong basketball player from an early age, Mr. Allerton was awarded a basketball scholarship to Baldwin Wallace College. As a senior there, he became the school's leading scorer and was inducted into their Hall of Fame. In 1968, he was drafted by the Atlanta Hawks of the NBA and, upon being released, played two years for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in the Industrial League, traveling to various countries building relationships on behalf of Goodyear and the United States.

Builders of more than construction projects, the Allertons have made it a priority to build real opportunities for others. Among the organizations they are actively involved with is Bridging the Gap, a non-profit that builds suspension bridges in Kenya, helping families to access food, medical care, and schooling for their children. For the past 11 years, the Allertons have hosted a Christmas fundraiser at their home for the St. Mary of the Isle Food Pantry, building a safety net that helps people who are homeless get back on their feet.

Mr. Allerton says, "I can't fully express my appreciation to those who believed in me and to this country where, with passion and perseverance, anything is possible."

ALUMNI REUNION 2012 AND HALL OF ACHIEVEMENT

The Alumni Office collaborated with the Social Work Program to host the annual Alumni Reunion on April 12, 2012 celebrating the achievements and accomplishments of three outstanding alumni who were inducted into the Hall of Achievement: Gary Mallon, '79 for Excellence; William Carter, '95 for Leadership; and Reji Mathew, '90 for Service.

The Alumni Hall of Achievement was inaugurated in 2007 to recognize distinguished alumni for their commitment and dedication to the College and the community.

Proceeds from the event will go toward the establishment of an endowed alumni scholarship for a child of Dominican College alumni.

ANNUAL FUND

The year just concluded was a particularly successful year for the Annual Fund, thanks to the outstanding responses of generous donors to a number of causes. The Annual Fund generates support from individual donors, as well as corporate sponsors, all for the purpose of providing the College with the critical resources it needs to meet a broad range of projects and programs across campus.

As a key element in the current Comprehensive Campaign — Advancing Excellence — the Annual Fund has exceeded the 5 year goal of $3M, which provides year-to-year support for all College operations, including many strategic initiatives identified by a college-wide community.

It's noteworthy that the generous gifts of alumni and friends to the Annual Fund have helped make possible a Student Internet Radio Station and support for the Sullivan Library and the new Apple computer lab, not to mention the important day-to-day operations of campus programs and systems, without which the College community could not function as well.

Sources that have helped to make this such a banner year include not only direct donations to the Annual Fund, but also support of the annual golf outing, the annual Grand Reception, the annual Christmas Concert, and many other organized fundraising initiatives designed by the Office of Institutional Advancement. @

DISCOVERING THE LIFE AND THE SPIRIT OF ST. DOMINIC—A PERSONAL REFLECTION

BY: ANN VAVOLIZA Ed.D.,
ASSOCIATE DEAN

This past Memorial Day proved to be a memorable day indeed for me and the two students, Tiffany Bermudez and Cliff Lindor, who accompanied me on a journey to the birthplace of St. Dominic, Fanjeaux France. There we joined a group of faculty, staff, and student representatives from eleven other Dominican colleges and universities across the country. My fellow pilgrims and I soon set out on an 18-day journey to various sites associated with Dominic, some of which he had himself stayed at or even founded. We all became imbued with a deeper understanding of the Dominican charisma by seeing for ourselves what Dominic had seen and touching what he had touched. It was a journey in the geographical, historical, and spiritual sense. And it moved us all.

Most days began with class (a multi-disciplinary study of medieval France) for the students and a seminar for the Dominican employees, taught by a Dominican friar travelling with us. Father Mike structured our sessions on the history of Dominic's time, his own personal history, his enduring philosophy, and challenges we face on our contemporary campuses keeping the flame of Dominic's message alive. These sessions provided us with a deepened understanding of what the day's travels would have us experience.

For me, one of the most poignant and enduring experiences of these travels was our visit to Prouilhe, the convent St. Dominic had established over 800 years ago and where some 30 international Dominican nuns still reside. We met one of them,

▲ CLIFF LINDOR AND
TIFFANY BERMUDEZ

Soeur Geneviève, who told us through an interpreter about the history of the cloistered convent and its mission to this day. Then she invited us to come into their chapel for Vespers. It was at this sacred and stirring service that I truly felt the presence of St. Dominic. I could not help but see the joy in the eyes of all the nuns, some of whom caught our glances and responded through their singing with a shy yet welcoming smile. It was moving to see and hear such an honest and happy expression of faith.

Along with Prouilhe, we also visited St. Dominic's home, where we attended Mass, thanks to Father Mike. Then we stood at the very altar Dominic himself had prayed at. What a privilege to touch that 800-year-old stone!

Just as Dominic himself traversed many miles in his faith-bearing mission, we, too were travelers, and our destinations were sites of enduring beauty and history. We hugged the side of the Pyrenees en route to prehistoric caves, where we marveled at etchings drawn between 13,000 and 15,000 years ago; we were taken to two mountains (which some of us even climbed), which had served as hideouts for two medieval groups; we went on an exhilaratingly wet and with other participants on the trip to Fanjeaux

bouncy ride across the waves of the Mediterranean; we toured the castle at Carcassonne, majestic in its splendor and massiveness; we shopped in the marketplaces of Albi and Mirepoix and in the larger city of Toulouse, where we visited the lovely Basilica of Saint-Sernin.

For many of us, the most special time of our Fanjeaux experience was actually in Paris, where we spent the final four days of our journey. There I saw the Louvre—and the Mona Lisa within—and Notre Dame, where I attended Mass. One day, a small group of my fellow travelers and I rode the train to Versailles, where we toured the palace and gardens, again open-mouthed at such expansive opulence.

As you can see by my above travelogue, the Fanjeaux Program offers a rich array of trips and experiences for its participants. But perhaps the most enduring and meaningful memory of the trip for me is intangible. Yes, I brought home silk scarves and photos of lavender and poppies, of castles and cathedrals. But my most prized souvenir is my deepened appreciation of who St. Dominic truly was and how those of us on Dominican campuses can keep his spirit alive. @

CAMPUS EVENTS AND PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Among the numerous special events that enlivened campus life over the course of the year, there were many of academic or cultural interest that were arranged by various members of the faculty and open to the College community as a whole. Several of these events were open to the broader community as well and served significant numbers of visitors to the campus.

JOSEPH TRACY'S ENCORE PRESENTATION

In January, the College hosted a return engagement by Joseph Tracy, Executive Vice President of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. His address "Outlook for the Economy... One Year Later," provided information on the economic recovery. It was met with great acclaim by the community leaders in attendance and was delivered to over 100 people in the Fury Lecture Hall of the Prusmack Center.

CAMPUS EVENTS

- The Social Work program, led by Dr. Paul DuongTran, Director, hosted the College's first-ever Social Work Student Advocacy Research Conference this spring, co-sponsored by the Hudson Valley Chapter of NASW. It featured a keynote address by Dr. Edgar Tyson of the Graduate School of Social Service at Fordham College and presentations by students from Dominican and from five other institutions, some from as far away as South Dakota and Walla Walla, Washington.
- The College hosted the Third Annual Honors Lyceum this year, with keynote speaker Daniel J. Mahoney, Ph.D., Chair and Professor of Political Science at Assumption College (Worcester, MA), delivering a lecture titled "Educating Human Beings and Citizens."
- Annual Nurse Leadership Day, which again this year provided a forum for Nursing seniors from across the various program options to showcase their research projects, also featured a lecture on

"Men in Nursing" by Nursing Program alumnus Miguel Alexis, Class of 2000.

- At this year's 28th Annual Hudson Valley Undergraduate Psychology Conference hosted by the College, several student researchers from Dominican and from two guest institutions delivered paper and poster presentations based upon their research.

- Athletic Training, Biology, Honors, and Nursing baccalaureate programs—in addition to undergraduate/graduate students in the BS/MS program in Occupational Therapy—delivered on-campus public presentations of their original research projects. This year's Biology Research Symposium was co-sponsored by Novartis Pharmaceuticals and featured keynote speaker Dr. Joseph Wu of New York Medical College.

- The College's 3rd Annual Gender Awareness Forum featured a guest lecture co-sponsored by the Social Work Program on "Gender-based Violence and Prevention" by two administrators of the Rockland Family Shelter; a dramatization and discussion of Cicely Hamilton's 1909 comedy How the Vote Was Won by students in Dr. Ellen Dolgin's upper-level English course; a presentation titled "Manning Up: How the Rise of Women is Turning Men into Boys" by Kay S. Hymowitz, author, editor, and William E. Simon Fellow at the Manhattan Institute; "Learning From Amy's Story: Rockland County's Response to Domestic Violence," by Senior Assistant District Attorney of the County, Jennifer Parietti; and a screening of several documentary films.

NOTEWORTHY SCHOLARLY AND OTHER PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Michael Ainette, Ph.D., (Psychology) co-authored an article, “A Dual-Process Model of Early Substance Use: Tests in Two Diverse Populations,” which was accepted for publication in an upcoming issue of Health Psychology.

Salvatore Bondoc, OTD, (Occupational Therapy), an adjunct for the past decade, was recently recognized as a Fellow of the American Occupational Therapy Association, which is a highly prestigious designation reserved for those who have made “a significant contribution to the continuing education and professional development of members of the Association”.

▲ SANDRA COUNTEE

Sandra Countee, Ph.D., (Occupational Therapy), along with faculty colleagues Marge Boyd, M.P.H., Jan Garbarini, M.A., and Kristina Vilonen, M.A., delivered research proposals co-authored with students at the 2011 and 2012 AOTA Conferences held in Philadelphia and Indianapolis.

Anthony D’Antoni, Ph.D., (Physical Therapy) has had his co-authored article, “Pedal Occurrence of Nodular Fascitis: A Case Report,” published in the December issue of The Journal of Foot & Ankle Surgery.

▲ ANNMARIE DELLIPIZZI

AnnMarie Dellipizzi, Ph.D., and Bernadette Connors, Ph.D., (Biology) presented workshops on physics and forensic science, respectively, at the First Annual STEM Super Scholars Conference for 7th and 8th grade girls co-sponsored by the American Association of University Women and the Rockland Teachers Center, hosted last fall by Rockland Community College.

Ellen Dolgin, Ph.D., (English) had her paper titled “Shaw Without Borders” accepted for presentation at last summer’s Fourth International Shaw Society Conference at the University of Guelph, in Guelph, Ontario and her article, “The Landscape of Beyond: Barbara’s Disillusionment and Transformation in Bernard Shaw’s Major Barbara”, accepted for publication in the Summer, 2011 issue of Upstage: A Journal of Turn-of-the-Century Theatre.

▲ PAUL DUONG-TRAN

Paul Duong-Tran, Ph.D., (Social Work), who has co-authored chapters for two texts currently in publication, presented two co-authored workshops at this year’s CSWE Annual Program Meeting in February, and he has had his co-authored paper titled “Ending Human Trafficking: What Do People Know?” accepted for presentation at the International Conference on International Relations and Development, to be held in Thailand this July. He also has presented one co-authored paper, “Case Management Services in Viet Nam: Cross-Cultural Lessons,” at this year’s annual conference of the New York State Social Work Education Association in Saratoga Springs, NY and another, “Using a Synergetic Approach in Teaching Community Practice,” at the 2012 Baccalaureate Program Directors Annual Conference held in Portland, OR in March. Finally, he was recently selected as a manuscript reviewer for the Journal of Social Work Education, and his co-authored article, “Hip Hop Perceptions and Exposure as Predictors of School Outcomes for Black and Latino Adolescents,” was recently published in the Journal of Human Behavior in the Social Sciences.

Kathleen Femiani, M.S., Ed., (Teacher Education) presented her paper titled “Reflection: Just Think About It?” at the Eastern Educational Research Association Conference held in February in Hilton Head, South Carolina.

Mary Patricia Furlong, M.A., (Nursing) was awarded the J. Mae Pepper Award by Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing, Zeta Omega Chapter-at-Large.

Margaret Giuliano, M.S., (Director of Special Services) participated in a panel discussion of “Planning for Your Child’s Future” at last month’s conference of the New York Institute for Special Education.

Gary Grimaldi, Ph.D., (Occupational Therapy) has recently had his book, Pocket Guide to Basic Rehabilitation, published by Linus Publication.

Kevin Hermberg, Ph.D., (Philosophy), who was this year reappointed to the Board of Directors of the American Association of Philosophy Teachers, co-edited and authored a chapter in Variations on Truth recently published by Continuum International Publishing Group, and had his paper on “Husserl’s Epistemology—Social Beyond the Typical Story,” accepted for presentation at the January 2012 Hawaii University International Conferences on Arts and Humanities.

Jennifer Kaywork, Ed.D., (Teacher Education) has signed a contract with National Social Science Press for the upcoming publication of her book titled Understanding and Appropriately Responding to Infants and Toddlers: A Comprehensive Guide to Children Ages 0-3.

Michael Kelly, Ph.D., (Teacher Education) delivered a presentation titled “Everything You Wanted to Know About Getting Ready (and Letting Go): Tips for a Successful Transition to College Life” at JCC-Y Jewish Family Services this spring.

▲ MARK MEACHEM

BARBARA SOCOR, WILLIAM STEGMAYER, AND JOYCE COHEN

IN 2012 THE COLLEGE BID GOODBYE TO THREE LONGSTANDING MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION WHO ANNOUNCED THEIR RETIREMENTS.

Barbara Socor, Ph.D., joined the College's academic community 18 years ago, serving as Divisional Director of Social Sciences since 1996. She has also served, and often led, the Committee on Instruction, General Education Committee, Assessment Committee, Middle States Self-Study, and Freshman Year Program. During her tenure at the College, five honor societies were introduced into the Social Sciences Division—Social Work, Criminal Justice, Psychology, and History—and Criminal Justice was nurtured from its status as a concentration into one of the most popular baccalaureate programs. At her retirement party, Sr. Mary Eileen described Dr. Socor as someone who, "continuously emphasizes the importance of scholarly work and is clearly supportive of her faculty's professional development."

William Stegmayer, Ph.D., joined the College's administration in 2006 as Director of Research, Planning, and Assessment. During his 6 years in the role, he guided the College's planning process, providing direction, and leadership to the development of a Master Plan, Strategic Initiatives, and the College's Policy Manual. During his tenure he served on important committees such as retention, prepared background for the budget process and helped the College benchmark with peers and aspirants, and participated in College events and discussions. At a farewell gathering he was described by Sr. Mary Eileen as "kind and thoughtful—knowledgeable and conscientious, accurate, and dependable, bright and thorough."

Joyce Cohen, M.A., joined the faculty in 1979, having taught at Felician, Elizabeth General, and Hackensack's Schools of Nursing, as well as serving as head nurse at Englewood and public health nurse for Bergen Visiting Nurse Service. As Director of the Division of Nursing she developed the RN-BSN delivery system and guided its development over many years, organized major conferences on Palliative Care and Gerontology, and made many presentations at Senior Centers throughout Rockland County. She has also been chosen to serve on every faculty committee as well as the Dominican Connection Committee. At her retirement party, Sr. Mary Eileen described her as "part of the fabric that is Dominican College."©

IN MEMORY

FATHER RONALD A. STANLEY, O.P.

A man driven by service and a mission to share his love for humanity, Father Ronald A. Stanley will be deeply missed by all who knew him. Focused on the beauty of life and dedicated to helping those in need, Father Ron will be remembered by all who were touched by his work.

This summer the Dominican College community said goodbye to the campus chaplain, Father Ronald A. Stanley, O.P., who died on July 14, 2012.

Father Ron was a mission and service driven man who joyfully shared his love of God, humanity and nature with all who came within his sphere.

He began his career in Blauvelt 40 years ago as a social worker the Saint Dominic's Home. Working with distressed children made Father Ron ask himself what he could do to improve their lives. He decided to pursue a master's degree in social work which led him to a summer program set up by Monsignor Robert Fox that sent middle class people into Harlem to work with families in need.

When he came back to campus as Chaplain in 2007, he brought with him a mission of service to a small and remote village in the mountains of the Dominican Republic. Countless students, faculty, and staff have made the twice yearly trip with him and have stayed with farming families, working alongside their hosts to build much needed infrastructure. Each person who returned from a trip with Father Ron felt changed—that more good had been done for them than they had done for the families of La Cuchilla. Father Ron was a living example of the Dominican tradition of good and compassionate people, that rare combination of focus on both the internal journey of life as well as the external journey.

In an interview from 2007, Father Ron said, "Being service minded... part of that is a deep sense of being part of this wonderful planet, this precious pearl in the immenseness of space."

He will be remembered at Dominican College as a man of warmth and peace who created lasting relationships with students who loved him. ☺
